REDLANDS COAST

TRANSPORT STRATEGY

FACT SHEET

Who is responsible for what?

Council and the state government work closely together to keep our city moving.

Council has responsibility for thousands of kilometres of local roads, footpaths, tracks, trails and more. Your rates help pay for their construction and maintenance.

The state government, through the Department of Transport and Main Roads (TMR) own and look after assets including railways, trains and buses, and our SMBI passenger transport infrastructure.

The state government also manages our rail, bus and ferry passenger transport services, making decisions concerning service frequency, routes, fares and more.

The state government also own and have responsibility for maintenance, and upgrade of the main arterial roads in our city, including:

- Cleveland-Redland Bay Road/ Russell Street/Waterloo Street/Gordon Road
- Redland Bay Road
- Longland Road/Serpentine Creek Road
- Duncan Road/Boundary Road
- Colburn Avenue
- Mount Cotton Road
- Old Cleveland Road/Finucane Road/Shore Street
- Moreton Bay Road
- Old Cleveland Road East/Birkdale Road
- East Coast Road (North Stradbroke Island)

Because the state government has responsibility for so much of our transport network, effective advocacy for the delivery of major projects is a key priority of this strategy.

00345 10/18

Tell us if we've got it right. Have your say now.

CONNECTING REDLANDS COAST

Redland CITY COUNCIL

yoursay.redland.qld.gov.au